Helping Native Students Thrive: Culture, Community, and Connection How can we connect with Native students more effectively and authentically? Navigating cultural difference in the age of racial reckoning can be scary, but there is so much at stake for the kids we serve. The better acquainted we are with tools and strategies that deliver results, the more impactful our efforts become.

Join celebrated Ojibwe author, professor, racial equity educator, and cultural practitioner Anton Treuer for a fresh perspective on healing and thriving for Native students

BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Anton Treuer (pronounced troy-er) is Professor of Ojibwe at Bemidji State University and author of many books. He has a B.A. from Princeton University and a M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. He is Editor of the Oshkaabewis (pronounced o-shkaah-baywis) Native Journal, the only academic journal of the Ojibwe language. Dr. Treuer has presented all over the U.S. and Canada and in several foreign countries on Everything You Wanted to Know About Indians But Were Afraid to Ask, Cultural Competency, Racial Equity, Strategies for Addressing the "Achievement" Gap, and Tribal Sovereignty, History, Language, and Culture.
