

---

13.d. Rehabilitative services. (continued)

Covered EPSDT rehabilitative services also includes school social work services when identified in a special education evaluation, an Individualized Education Program, or Individualized Family Service Plan under the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA). A special education evaluation, Individualized Education Program, or Individualized Family Service Plan may be used to determine medical necessity for school social work services instead of a standard diagnostic assessment.

A school social worker or school providing social work services is not required to meet the certification standards for providers of children's therapeutic services and supports under item 4.b. of this attachment.

School social work services may be provided by the following:

- a mental health professional as defined in item 6.d.;
- a clinical trainee as defined in item 6.d.; and,
- a mental health practitioner as defined in item 13.d.

Clinical trainees and mental health practitioners providing school social work services must work under the supervision of a mental health professional.

Covered school social work services include, but are not limited to:

- administering and reporting standardized measures;
- care coordination;
- children's crisis assistance, planning, and response services;
- mental health clinical care consultation;
- for adolescents, dialectical behavioral therapy;
- family psychoeducation services;
- individual, family, and group psychotherapy;
- mental health behavioral aide services;
- direction of mental health behavioral aides;
- skills training; and
- treatment plan development and review.

---

13.d. Rehabilitative services. (continued)

Covered EPSDT rehabilitative services also includes school social work services when identified in a special education evaluation, an Individualized Education Program, or Individualized Family Service Plan under the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA). A special education evaluation, Individualized Education Program, or Individualized Family Service Plan may be used to determine medical necessity for school social work services instead of a standard diagnostic assessment.

A school social worker or school providing social work services is not required to meet the certification standards for providers of children's therapeutic services and supports under item 4.b. of this attachment.

School social work services may be provided by the following:

- a mental health professional as defined in item 6.d.;
- a clinical trainee as defined in item 6.d.; and,
- a mental health practitioner as defined in item 13.d.

Clinical trainees and mental health practitioners providing school social work services must work under the supervision of a mental health professional.

Covered school social work services include, but are not limited to:

- administering and reporting standardized measures;
- care coordination;
- children's crisis assistance, planning, and response services;
- mental health clinical care consultation;
- for adolescents, dialectical behavioral therapy;
- family psychoeducation services;
- individual, family, and group psychotherapy;
- mental health behavioral aide services;
- direction of mental health behavioral aides;
- skills training; and
- treatment plan development and review.